

Supplementary Figure 4

Evolution through mutations in trans-acting regulatory proteins or in cis-acting DNA elements

The regulation of a common transcription factor could diverge between the species. Alternatively, modifications of the individual cis-regulatory elements of each downstream gene could change their regulation, potentially co-opting or losing regulation by a transcription factor.

